

Dad made one promise, and only one.
“I will always show up for you.”

Then one winter, Dad died — and the house went quiet. Until a cold morning, and a tap at the window. Tap. Tap-tap.

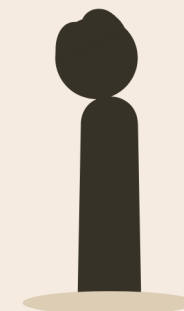

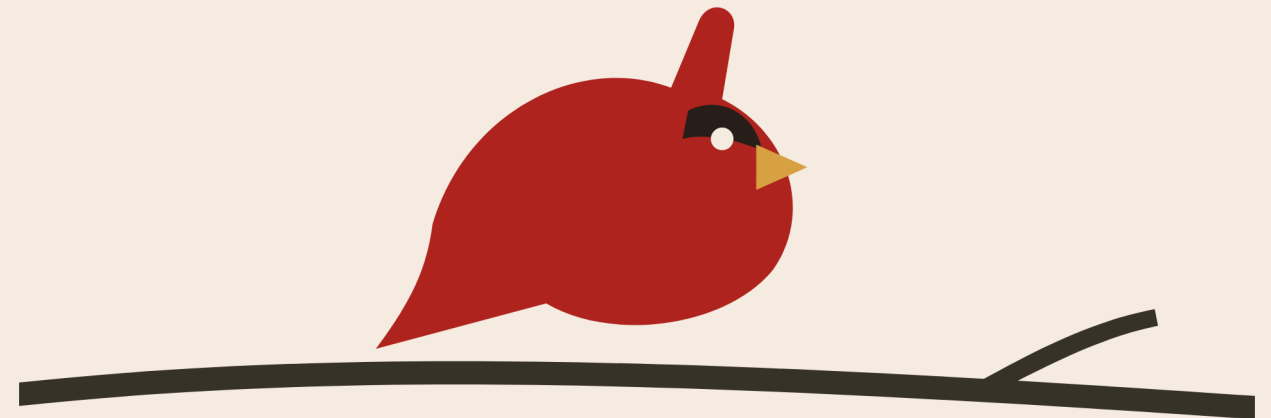

A gentle story about love, loss, and the red bird that keeps showing up — for every family sitting in the quiet after goodbye.

*Includes a note for grown-ups on talking with children about loss. From the author of the memoir The Cardinal’s Promise.*
